Leo Zerilli – Joined Board 2021

Head of Wealth and Asset Management, Canada, Manulife Investment Management

Leo is responsible for the firm's wealth and asset management business in Canada, one of three key regions in which the firm operates globally. Previously, he was the firm's global head of investment product, overseeing all investment product development, asset manager selection, and ongoing oversight of global performance and risk across a wide range of investment vehicles. Prior to his appointment to that position in 2017, Leo was with the firm's U.S. retail business, John Hancock Investment Management, where he served as head of investments and chief investment officer after holding diverse roles of steadily increasing responsibility within the organization dating to 1997. He currently serves as a director of the Investment Funds Institute of Canada.
